The Big Bang!

On Wednesday, some of the Year 5s visited a very special science event at Newham College called 'The Big Bang'. At the event, there were several exhibitions including: how important science is in special fx, meeting mini beasts, tasting crickets (yes, that means eating them!), racing electric toothbrushes, a GIANT drawing machine & the most disgusting science show on Earth.

Sharing Assemblies

There are no more sharing assemblies this term. Invitations will be sent to parents/ carers of children who will be receiving awards in our Achievement Assemblies.

Big Bug Hunt

On Thursday afternoon, Berners-Lee and Hawking class, visited West Ham Park. We went on a "bug hunt" - although we know this isn't the proper scientific term. With our pots and jam jars we found all sorts of interesting things: grasshoppers, slugs, woodlice, spiders, ants, millipedes and ladybirds.

At the end of the hunt we did the right thing and returned them to their natural habitat (although some seemed to return to school!) Now let the scientific drawings begin!

Year 3 Visit to the Roald Dahl Exhibition

Introduction

We first went walking to Stratford Station and took the Jubilee Line to Waterloo. Then we walked for 10-15 minutes and reached the Southbank Centre where a nice lady took our bags and coats then we had a snack break.

The Exhibition

We started the journey by entering a room full of boxes and pictures of Roald Dahl. Then we went to the time of when Roald Dahl was a boy, and we pretended that we were students in his class. After that we went to a room with an aeroplane and a few newspapers and learned about his time and experiences in World War II. We were fascinated when we saw his pilot uniform and we got to squirt gas out of whoopee-cushions on the wall! We were doing this in the inventing room from Charlie and the Chocolate Factory and tested out a new experiment with yellow paper and read a secret message. We then rode the glass lift and moved the books on the shelf with our imagination! It was a magical sight.

Playtime

After this we had lunch and went to a mini sandpit. We all had a sandcastle competition and the winners were very proud. We all went back home on the tube happy and tired. We all had a great experience and enjoyed the visit. Hope you get to visit the Southbank Centre too!
